As AP studies are typically rigorous, it is mandated that you complete the following work prior to attending our first class. Be prepared for an initial exam within the first week of school on the first unit.

Read Units I and II. This will include 11 modules, through page 74. Your notes should be detailed for each and will be reviewed by your instructor for the level of detail required to be successful on assessments.

Use your time to explore the online resources and be familiar with the content. This should prepare you for one of the most challenging units of the course, Biological Bases of Behavior.

Enjoy the summer break!
