Principal - Farhat Siddiqui Farhat Siddiqui obtained her M.Ed. degree, specializing in school leadership and administration from Loyola University, Chicago and is an Illinois licensed school principal. She received additional training at Harvard University's Principal Leadership Center. She has served as a Certified Chair for AdvancED, now known as COGNIA. She is an Educational Speaker and Trainer for the State Board of Education and conducts professional development training for staff and mentoring and coaching for school leaders. She has served on the ISNA Education Forum committee, CIOGC, and currently serves as a board member for Northwest Suburban College. Her educational philosophy of guiding institutions towards stability and growth has inspired her to work at the grassroots level to develop the talent within the community to nurture leadership and position individuals with capacity, motivation, character, and drive to create opportunities to better our students and community. This premise has been foundational in guiding her to move schools from a stage of infancy to maturity. She has been instrumental in increasing student enrolment, increasing top tier University admissions, initiating school spiritual retreats to perform Umrah, and establishing Jumma prayer led by students. Her contributions have garnered her recognition at the state and national level, including the Washington Post and TIME magazine. She currently serves as the school principal.

Director of Curriculum and Instruction - Salma Mady

Salma Mady has been in the education field for over 8 years holding various roles from teaching, curriculum design, to administration across various institutions - from online, private to public. She is currently enrolled in a Master's in Public Policy and Administration program from Northwestern University and has already attained a certificate in Higher Education Administration and Social Policy from the same institution. She obtained her Bachelor's from Benedictine University in secondary education with a focus in social science. She is certified to teach in the state of Illinois and Arizona. She has taught an effective essay writing course through Northwestern's CTD program and understands the intricacies of designing an effective course to attain impactful results. Her philosophy is centered around the concept of self-mastery in producing curriculum that establishes a balanced core of learning. Her goal is to promote student achievement through data driven instruction and strategic planning that enforces critical thinking skills. Curriculum should be interdisciplinary so that students can make connections scaffolding their learning from one subject to another.

Dean of Students - Sarah Shums

Sarah Shums earned her Bachelor's degree in Biology from California State University, Pomona. Through honors and distinctions, she graduated Magna Cum Laude. Subsequently, she completed her Master of Arts in Teaching from National Louis University in Lisle, IL. She holds endorsements in Middle School Curriculum and Instruction along with Biology.
